

SALEM SCHOOLS LIVING WITHIN INCOME, REPORT

School Nurse Gives Report Of Her Work During Last Month

Seventy-eight visits were made to schools between Dec. 1, 1923 and Feb. 1, 1924 by Nellie M. Lewis, public school nurse, according to her report for that period to the board of education Monday night. In that period also the nurse reported 76 cases of communicable disease.

Miss Lewis made seven classroom health talks and 12 individual health talks. 76 home calls, 273 dressings and treatments were made, six cultures were taken, 11 children were examined by the health commission, and five children were taken to doctors' office, for examination.

The communicable diseases are divided as follows: Scarlet fever 2, measles 1, chickenpox 45, whooping cough 1 and pink eye 27.

The nurse stated that she had collected $7 for iodine pills that have been given in school treatments.

Economy Will Keep Schools Open While Others Ask For State Aid.

CHECK WATER, MAY SAVE GYM FLOOR

Miss Harrold Is Chosen To Succeed Miss Hart As Teacher.

Although many cities throughout the state will be forced to discontinue school before the regular June closing date this year on account of lack of funds, the Salem public schools are virtually certain to remain open until the last scheduled day of school.

That fact was revealed at the meeting of the board of education Monday night, when Supt. J. S. Alan in a report on the money available and needed to run the schools the rest of the school year stated that about $4,000 was all that he had to pay for coal, supplies and necessities, but that that amount would be sufficient as nothing would be purchased that was not a dire necessity.

Kiwanis Club Home Talent Show Ready For Opener Tonight

The rare beauty of the rollicking light opera comedy, "Windmills of Holland," was brought out in full last evening at the final dress rehearsal. The stage is set in a landscape view of a most picturesque section of Holland and in the distance the Dutch windmill stands out in all its glory and majesty.

The costumes of the quaint old Dutch people, windmills and wooden shoes are worn with all the local coloring and there is a veritable sunburst of color when the entire cast and chorus of 50 are on the stage. Additional lights have been added for the occasion to bring out the better effects of the setting.

The vim and accuracy with which both principals and chorus went through their parts last evening give assurance that a performance without a hitch will be presented to the audience for the first time at the High school auditorium.

It should be remembered that only two performances will be given, tonight and Wednesday night, and that the advance sale of reserved seats has been heavy, so those who wish should get seats at the earliest possible moment.

NEW REVELATIONS ARE PROMISED IN NAVAL OIL PROBE

Numerous Stock Brokers Summoned Before Com- mittee Today.

SPECIAL COUNSEL PREPARING TO ACT

Fall Remains Firm In His Decision Not To An- swer Questions.

Washington, Feb. 5.—New and startling revelations in the naval oil scandal were promised as the senate public lands committee today began an examination of officials of leading stock brokerage firms in New York, Cleveland and Washington.

Information has been called to the attention of the committee that one member of the committee itself and a former official were "in the know" and profited financially by dealing in Sinclair stock before the announcement of the lease of Teapot Dome to Harry F. Sinclair, by ex-Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall was made public.

Numerous stockbrokers were summoned to be on hand today, including Carl P. Biggeman, of the Chase National bank, New York; Samuel Ungerleider, of Cleveland; W. B. Hibbs of Hibbs & Co., Washington, and James Sloan, former White House secret service man and Washington agent of the Ungerleider company.

Plan Short Session

As the committee planned only a short session, out of respect to the memory of Woodrow Wilson, only Biggeman was expected to take the witness stand today. He was asked to bring any records that might throw light on financial deals of Sinclair and his personal attorney, Col. J. W. Zevely, between Sept. 1, 1921 and June 1, 1923.

As the committee will ask the senate Thursday for reaffirmation of its authority to conduct the oil probe, challenged by Fall, the former secretary has been directed to appear Friday for further examination.

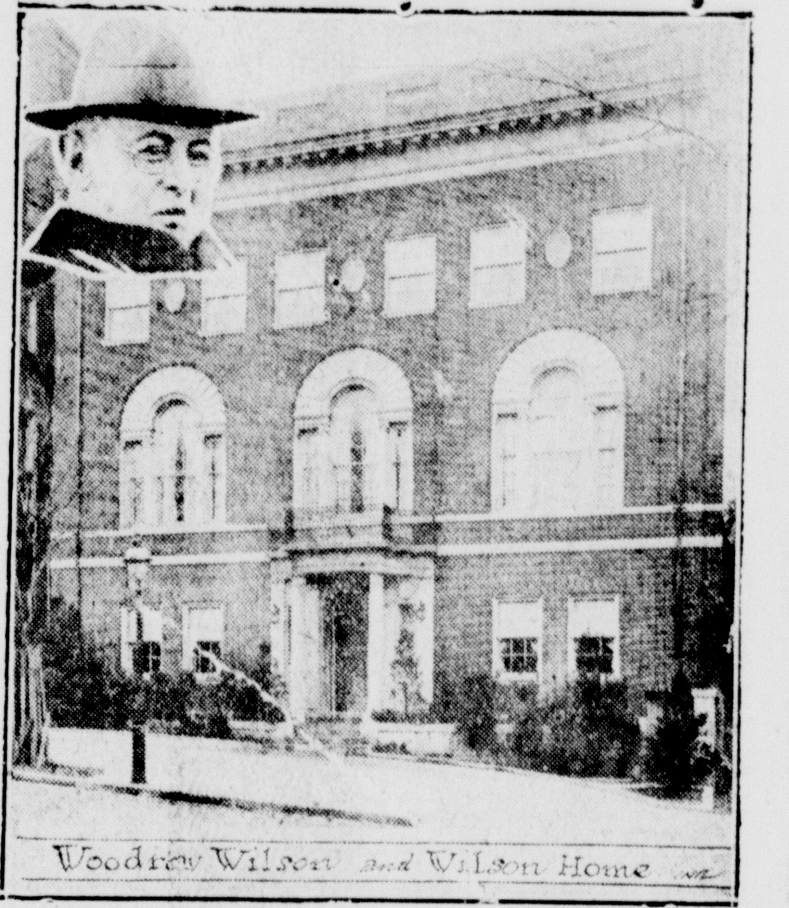

Fall's counsel intimated today that he would remain firm in his decision not to answer questions of the committee, basing his chief objection on the grounds that such testimony might incriminate him when the oil case is carried to court by the special counsel, Silas H. Strawn and Atlee Pomerene.

With all the evidence taken by the committee already in their hands, Strawn and Pomerene are expected to make the first definite move in the government's oil case late this week or by Monday or Tuesday of next week.

This first step will be the filing of injunction suits to prevent Sinclair and E. L. Doheny from further extracting oil from Teapot Dome or Elk Hills naval reserves as directed in the Walsh resolution.

Wilson's Request For No Pomp Followed In Plans For Funeral

WHERE WILSON'S BODY LIES

Here is E-President Wilson's home as it is at S. St., Washington, where private funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon. The insert is the last photograph ever made of Mr. Wilson, taken as he left his home for his last automobile ride.

PRIVATE SERVICE PLANNED WITHOUT STATE CEREMONY

Wanted To Be Buried As a Private Citizen, Mourn- ed By Friends.

EXPECT THOUSANDS WILL LINE STREETS

Commerce Of City Will Be Stilled, Government Business Cease.

BULLETIN

Washington, Feb. 5.—It was announced today that the funeral services at the cathedral tomorrow would be broadcasted by radio. President Coolidge today ordered all government departments to cease work at 2:30 p. m., out of respect to former President Wilson.

Under a law of 1893 the executive is prohibited from issuing an order closing the departments for an entire day in honor of any former government official.

Washington, Feb. 5.—Woodrow Wilson is to be buried tomorrow exactly as he wished—as a private citizen.

Donahy Asks Ohio Business To Cease For Wilson Service

Columbus, Feb. 5.—Gov. Donahy issued a proclamation calling on business in Ohio to cease for 10 minutes starting at 2 p. m. Wednesday, central time, (3 p. m. Salem time) the hour of the funeral of Woodrow Wilson in Washington.

Schools are urged to hold memorial services and to recess during the funeral hours.

Flags are to remain at half mast for 30 days. Public offices are to close at 2 p. m. Wednesday.

SLEET STORM SWEEPS OHIO; COLD WEATHER DUE HERE WEDNESDAY

Washington, Feb. 5.—The severe wires down, although each had one rain and sleet storms in the middle west will move slowly northward during the next 36 hours, attended by general precipitation east of the Mississippi excepting the extreme south, the weather bureau announced today.

Gales in the vicinity of Chicago, have reached a velocity of 56 miles an hour.

The temperature is expected to rise in the north Atlantic states tonight, and in New England Wednesday, while considerable colder weather will overtake the Ohio valley tonight and Wednesday, and the lower lakes region on Wednesday.

The storms are not limited to the central and eastern states.

Another disturbance is centered over Alberta, Can., and is moving southward, causing low temperatures in the Rockies westward to the Pacific coast.

citizen, for whom there should be no ostentation, no pompous display of national sorrow, no state or public ceremonies.

Members of his family made known this wish of the former president today in meeting objections raised in some quarters to the essentially private nature of the whole occasion with which his war-wrecked body will be consigned tomorrow to the keeping of time.

"It was his wish," they said.

And before this unanswerable argument all objections melted away, and the voice of a public and a government anxious to do him homage was stilled.

One of the few public events in which Mr. Wilson participated after his retirement from the White House, was the funeral of the unknown soldier, who was buried in Arlington National cemetery with all the pomp and splendor of a grateful nation was capable of rendering to its great, Mr. Wilson was deeply impressed. He thought it was fitting that the symbolic figure of America's heroic dead should be so honored.

Expressed His Desire

But at the same time he is said to have expressed a wish that when his time came he would be buried simply as a private citizen, mourned by his friends. A veteran of the war, perhaps, but still a private citizen, no different from the thousands of other war veterans who have found their final resting places in the home soil. And so tomorrow America's best known soldier will be delivered to time's keeping with only the simplest and most unostentatious of ceremonies.

But even his own wishes and those of his family can not entirely shut out the national sorrow that is felt at Woodrow Wilson's passing from the stage of world affairs. It is true he will be buried as he wished, as a private citizen, but it will be as (Continued on fourth page.)

POLICE IN BATTLE KILL ONE, CAPTURE PAIR OF GUNMEN

Cleveland Officers Seize Desperate Criminals In Fierce Gun Fight.

Cleveland, Feb. 5.—Charles Sanborn, 23, sought as a suspect in connection with the murder of John Kane, a bakery driver Christmas eve, was dead today, having been shot to death in a desperate battle with Cleveland police last yesterday, in which Bryan "Red" Keenan, 20, ex-convict, was wounded and captured and Ferdinand Mischke, 21, surrendered without fighting.

The battle was fought in the grounds surrounding the home of T. M. Columbia in Fairview village, and followed a command to the three, all believed to be desperate criminals, to surrender. The hiding place of the band was tipped off to police by Mrs. Columbia, when she recognized a picture of Sanborn, alleged leader of the gang, in a local newspaper.

Sanborn and Keenan refused to give themselves up, but instead opened fire on the police squad which arrived at the house, which they routed, shortly after 2 o'clock. The battle continued for several hours, and only ended when Sanborn was dead, and Keenan, one thumb shot off, was unable to continue the fight. The third man was dragged from under a bed, where he had taken refuge, pleading pitifully for mercy.

SENIORS SPEAK BEFORE SCHOOL

Eleanor Bates, Fred Bova And Alberta Bingham Speak Tuesday.

The annual senior speeches, which every senior must make before he can graduate, were started this morning at the High school.

The first speaker was Miss Eleanor Bates, who spoke on "What part of the world are you?" She pointed out that each one has a part to play in this life and urged her audience to play their part well and they would be promoting their own happiness as well as that of others.

"Success" was the subject chosen by Miss Alberta Bingham, the second speaker. In her talk the foundations which are to be made in order to be successful were fully explained and she showed her fellow students how easy it is to be a real success.

Fred Bova, the last speaker of the morning, gave a very interesting talk on "The radio of today." Static, broadcasting and other terms familiar to the radio fans were dealt with.

That the talks were well appreciated by the audience was demonstrated by the loud applause given.

The speeches will be resumed Thursday morning when Ruth Bradley, Hester Brown and Vernon Brumfield will address the members of the High school.

Salem And Leontonia Prisoners Paroled

Theodore Tudor, of Salem, who has been a prisoner in the county jail for 46 days, was paroled by the county commissioners Monday afternoon, as was Fred McCoy of Leontonia.

Tudor was sent up from the court of Mayor A. W. Ferren of East Palestine on a charge of violating the liquor laws and was fined $800 and costs.

McCoy was fined $250 by common pleas court and arranged to pay his fine. The costs in this case are to be paid before he is released, and this also has been arranged for.

IDLE STREET CAR WORKERS PETITION FOR HIGHER FARE

Rumors Of Disaffection In Akron's Council Over New Bus Lines.

Akron, Feb. 5.—A new angle developed today in Akron's motorization of transportation with rumors of disaffection in council which has hitherto stood unanimously behind Mayor Rybolt in fighting the fare increase.

Insisted on by the Northern Ohio Traction Co.

Since Friday motor buses have handled the traffic served by trolley cars but for three days agents of employees of the traction company have on council to pass a new six cent ordinance in order that street car operation may be resumed.

It was said this morning that about 24,000 signatures had been obtained, and the petitions will be presented to council at a meeting late this afternoon.

While Mayor Rybolt claims to control a majority of votes in council to continue his policy of motorization, at least four councilmen are known to be wavering and a battle is expected at the meeting.

The mayor will bring forward figures to prove the efficiency of the bus service and is expected to make a plea of more time in which to perfect the service of the new line.

Film Will Show Big Ohio Game Preserve

Delegates to the recent meeting of Ohio sportsmen in Columbus gave an interest account of the convention at the meeting of the Salem branch of the county fish and game association Monday night.

A letter was read by Secretary C. Scott Chisholm from the State Fish and Game department relating to the fish and game film that will be shown Wednesday night at the State. The picture shows the vastness of the wild game preserve in Scioto county, the game in it, and the work being done there.

As delegates' reports took up most of the time there was not much discussion of the state fish hatchery at Guilford dam. This will be a topic for discussion at the next meeting.

3 Escaped Convicts Are Slain By Posse

Jefferson City, Mo., Feb. 5.—A hail of bullets from the guns of a posse brought to a tragic close the escapes of the three state penitentiary convicts who got away 18 hours before, after killing James Hart, 42-year-old guard.

Armed with only a revolver taken from the slain guard, and defiant to the end, the fugitives met their death late last night in a haystack in which they sought refuge, on the farm of John Schepker, five miles southeast of here.

SILVER PLANT MAKES VARIETY OF PRODUCTS

High Grade Woodworking Machinery Of All Kinds, Drilling Machines, Feed Cutters, Etc., Made In Salem Plant.

By H. P. BRAMAN

If you have a ditch to dig, a silo to fill, some sausage to make, or clatter to be pressed out of the apples, you surely are going to use a Silver Manufacturing Co. product to aid in the work.

That plant, one of the city's oldest industrial works, makes machines for contractors, woodworkers, butchers, furniture builders, farmers, fruit growers, manufacturing plants, garages, machinists, patternmakers, and many other groups of labor, vocations and professions.

There is a very wide variety of products turned out under the Silver name. The big shop at the foot of Broadway is well known over this country and in every nook and corner of the old world, for its products that are for hundreds of uses.

It was in 1880 that the Silver and Deming Manufacturing Co., started business. In 1890 that company was divided, the new Deming Co. taking over the pump business, and the Silver Manufacturing Co., taking over the rest of the business.

Feed cutters, silo cutters and fodder shredders are three most important pieces of machinery that a farmer most needs to enable him to prepare his forage in the most economical and scientific way for feeding his cattle and other stock.

There aren't many farms of any size in the present age that do not have up-to-date machinery with which (Continued on page 12)

Stroudsburg, Pa., Feb. 5.—Ed Everett, 65, shot and killed his 23-year-old wife and then committed suicide in their home near here this morning.

The couple were married about a year ago in Canada.

A family dispute is believed to have precipitated the tragedy. Saturday night Mrs. Everett sought to have her husband arrested for an alleged attack on her, but dropped the case when a reconciliation was effected in the district attorney's office.

GERMAN EMBASSY SHOWS NO RESPECT

Refuses To Display Flag At Half Mast In Mem- ory Of Wilson.

Washington, Feb. 5.—While the diplomatic colony in the city joined today in expressions of sorrow over the death of Woodrow Wilson and half-masted their flags in conformity with the flags over government buildings, the flag over the German embassy continued to fly at full mast.

Members of the embassy staff said it remained at full mast in accordance with orders from the government at Berlin.

Telephonic inquiry drew the answer that the Berlin government considered Mr. Wilson a private citizen for whom no special honor need be paid. Consequently the flag on the embassy was not at half mast as were all the other flags in the capital.

Embassy officials displayed some embarrassment over the matter, but took the position that the government's orders had to be carried out. The incident caused much unfavorable comment in government circles and resulted in many calls to newspaper offices.

Chamonix, France, Feb. 5.—The winter contests of the Olympic games ended today with elaborate ceremonies. Baron Kesselrath, president of the International Olympic committee, was presented with a number of diplomatic medals.

The United States made a poor showing, getting fourth place with a total of 23 points. This was as big a surprise as the clean-up made in Norway. The Norwegian contestants got 134 1/2 points out of a possible 391 or more than one-third.

Woodrow Wilson

CONTEMPORARY estimations of a distinguished man's values at times are inadequate. Posterity has time to consider and weigh these values and, in the main, its verdicts are impartial and reliable.

That Woodrow Wilson will be numbered by the future historian as among the greatest men of his time goes without saying. The quality and extent of his achievements have impressed the thought of this day, have, perhaps, significantly influenced the immensity of a new order in social and political conduct and government.

Mr. Wilson was among the most intellectual of the nation's executives.
But the positiveness of his uncompromising nature may be held by the analyst of the future to have been responsible in part for his failure to attain to the summit of transcendent greatness. It was Mr. Wilson's tragedy that he could not brook disagreement with his own policies. Perhaps he felt that other men than he would not understand them; the result was that he himself was sadly misunderstood.

Great opportunities to achieve along a line of supreme endeavor came to Mr. Wilson. In a measure he triumphed. But had he found it possible to take the senate of the United States, and strong representative men of other parties into his confidence for consultation and advice, the history of the world of today and the world of coming time might be different.

And yet Woodrow Wilson, for a time, imposed his personality upon the ablest leaders and diplomats of the world; his word affected the des-tines of kings, the fortunes of nations. For a time he was master, and this mastery proved the greatness of his mind, the depth of his sincerity in working for the salvation of civilization.

What a career he had! A studious fellow, a quiet scholar, a college president, a man of thought rather than of action, forced by the strange tide of circumstance to grapple with the fierce military power that would have overrun the world and doing his full share to master it! Who won the war? Little Belgium won it, ponderous Russia won it, brave France won it, sturdy England won it, and, coming in when these found their forces spent or all but spent, light-footed America, under the guidance of a pale-faced scholar, won it so thoroughly that it could not be lost. President Wilson, as will be almost universally conceded now, rose magnificently to the necessity and the opportunity for which few might have thought such a man, an idealist and a dreamer, fit. His ideals proved just what were needed, for, being true ideals, they struck a responsive chord in the heart of the weary world. They rallied men and women everywhere to fight it through.

Thus he was a great war president, as before he had been a forceful and forward-looking peace president. And then, when the victory was won, came his great vision of a whole world agreed to peace. How bravely he worked to that exalted end! No man ever proved himself possessed of higher ideals or nobler purposes. His ideals, no doubt, was higher than human nature, triumphant after a cruel war and looking everywhere for personal and national advantage from the victory, was ready for. And then at home the reaction from the lofty spirit which had carried us through the war had set in full-swing and personal and political ambitions had become ruling motives in the minds of statesmen. He is always that way when the supreme effort is over and President Wilson built his hopes too high for immediate fulfillment. The millennium had not come. Perhaps the strange thing is not that he lost it, but that he came as nearly winning it as he did.

How manfully he fought to bring other men to share his vision! That last appeal of his to his countrymen, involving dreadful exertion for one so worn, by work and striving, was too much for his physical forces and, before he had said all he hoped to say to his fellow Americans, he was a broken man. The spirit's power over the body had reached its end, and so he went down fighting, as brave a soldier, as devoted a patriot as ever fell on the field of battle. We shall all recognize it now.

20 YEARS AGO

(Issue of Feb. 5, 1904)

The 17th annual report of the Home for Aged Women shows that there are 12 inmates in the home.
A son was born Thursday to Mr.
and Mrs. Gust Stratton, Gooden ave.
Wednesday night a daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Baker of Chestnut st.
Martha E. Bartholomew, Canfield
and Charles E. Clay, Berlin Center, have been granted a marriage license.
Leontina Jennings Lonsucker, 55, farmer, was almost instantly killed near the Leontia station this forenoon when struck by a westbound mail train.

The good roads movement which is on in Ohio is deserving of success.
According to commercial reports the United States last year imported 45-600,000 cigars from Cuba.

George Howell is recovering from severe bruises sustained while riding hobbyback a few days ago. The horse slipped and fell on Mr. Howell.

Announcement was made Wednesday of the marriage of William Pluckiger, Broadway meat dealer, and Miss Mary Haskins of Franklin Square, Rev. A. H. Schaefer, of the German Lutheran church, married the couple.

Addison Fugate, 75, for many years a resident of Guilford, died Thursday morning at Massillon.

R. W. McFarland, ex-president of Miami university, states that this winter is Ohio's coldest in 74 years. The last 10 weeks averaged eight degrees colder than any corresponding period in the history of the state.

LOST AN AIRSHIP AGAIN

By Mistake in Orders United States
Failed to Get Zeppelin for $110,000 in 1918.

The United States army nearly got possession of a Zeppelin of 100,000 cubic meters content in the closing months of 1918, immediately after the armistice, and the officer who cleverly put through the deal was Maj. William N. Hensley, now in the army air service and the commander at Mitchell field, New York.

Major Hensley fairly weeps when spoken of of the incident, for at the price the Germans then agreed to take for the levitation of the air the army would have secured a property worth millions for exactly $110,000. It was to have been a cash transaction at the then prevailing rates of exchange, for Hensley had been given the money to pay for the airship.

At the time Major Hensley was acting upon orders directly from the War department in Washington, but by some mistake the general staff of the American Expeditionary Force in France had not been informed of his mission. Nevertheless, he closed with the Germans, secured their signatures to a contract, and delivery would have been made but for the reported loquacity of some one in the entourage of a high American officer in Paris. Certain of the allies thus learned of the contract and protests were filed through the State department, and America lost the greatest of airship bargains. It is not unlikely but that the "slip-up" will have abating in the next congress.
"Not one word will I say for publication or otherwise upon this old Zeppelin matter," said Major Hensley the other day when asked for the details of the affair.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

IVORY FROM SKIMMED MILK

Substitute for This and Other Materials Is Produced by a Recent Process.

Combining beauty with utility, a material is being made from skimmed milk by a process recently brought to the United States from England. As it is non-inflammable, odorless, and can be drilled, glued or dyed, it has a multitude of uses as a substitute for ivory, ebony, amber, tortoise-shell, horn and other similar products. Besides it may be used as an almost perfect imitation of many natural products of great price, among them being Chinese jade and lapis lazuli. A brilliant polish is easily obtained and it can be bent, pressed, and, to some extent, moulded, or machined. As it is a nonconductor of electricity it may be used in making decorative radio and lighting fixtures. Also it has been found valuable for ship's cabins, hand rails, automobile fixtures, and in the making of beads, buckles, buttons, jewelry, fancy ornaments, cigarette holders, combs, brushes, carriage handles, parts of furniture, pencils and penholders, organ stops, and piano keys.

Sixth Of Country's Land Area Used To Produce Farm Crops

Washington, Feb. 5.—More than one-sixth of the entire land area of the country was used in growing farm crops last year. The Department of Agriculture calculates the total acreage of all crops at 372,829,000 acres or 32.65 per cent of the land.

Farm crops produced, not merely those sold, had a hypothetical total value of $4,476,976,000 in 1923, or almost a billion dollars more than in 1922.

Texas continues to hold first place in acreage and value of all crops. Her farms aggregated 27,923,100 acres and the crop value in 1923 was $1,064,775,000. Iowa's crops were second in value with $475,920,000 on an acreage of 21,724,000; Illinois third with $459,659,000 and an acreage of 20,615,000. California fourth with $447,993,000 and an acreage of 6,927,000. North Carolina fifth with $415,737,000 and an acreage of 7,289,000; Ohio sixth with $326,013,000 and an acreage of 11,965,000; and Missouri seventh with $321,607,000 and an acreage of 15,415,000.

ROOTING HURTS THE VOICE

Professor in University Says Vocal Lessons Are Useless After Big Football Game.

Discovered—the reason why schools of music never have football teams.

Vocal pupils would be hoarse as soon as they had finished their lessons for half of the week following every game and the ears of the rest of the students would be way off standard, due to heavy duty in the cheering section.

This is voiced for by Prof. E. G. Killen, instructor in voice at the University of Minnesota.

Professor Killen says he would never have to attend a game nor read a newspaper to know how a Minnesota football contest came out. He would be able to reconstruct the game as soon as lessons began Monday morning.

Vocal students were practically 100 per cent casualties following the Minnesota-Iowa game and at the close of the Northwestern game, in which Minnesota was victorious. Voice lessons went off smoothly the week after Minnesota lost to Michigan a game so far away that relatively few were present.

Professor Killen's keenest disappointment came the week after the Iowa game. One of his pupils is an oboe player in the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra.

He expected this voice at least to be clear and accurate.

When the man tried to sing it sounded like putting the brakes on a train of heavily loaded flatcars.

Even the oboe player had been to the football game.

Old Iron Mines Closed.

The oldest iron mines in the United States, located at Sterling, N. Y., have been closed. They have been in continuous operation since 1760, and were taken from them was used to forge the famous chain that was stretched across the Hudson river in the Revolutionary war to prevent the British ships from ascending the stream. Iron for every war in which the United States ever fought has come from these mines.

Judge Killitts Urges Strengthening of Volstead Act.

ADDRESSES LETTER TO WILLIS

Demand For Conservation of Wild Life in Ohio Made by Ohio League of Sportsmen—Investigation of Alleged Bribery of Employee of State Securities Division Under Way. Fess May Succeed Hynicka.

Columbus, Feb. 5.—Congress should strengthen the Volstead enforcement act at its present session, according to Federal Judge John M. Killitts of Toledo. The judge, who is regarded by the prohibition forces as the best United States judge in the country because of the stern justice he hands out to law violators, addressed the following letter to Senator Willis:

"It has occurred to me that the Volstead act needs bolstering in one particular, and that is this: The penalty for transporting intoxicating liquor ought to be increased. A $500 fine, we find in experience, is often grossly inadequate, even though there may be accompanying it the forfeiture of the vehicle. The court ought to have more latitude than that. There should be attached a significant imprisonment penalty. Oftentimes it ought not to be resorted to, but there are other times when it seems necessary to have such a penalty.

"These transporters have now got to dangerous tendencies. They often shoot, and by their reckless methods of driving to elude capture many accidents occur on the leading highways, even deaths."

Senator Willis, who usually is sponsor for dry measures in congress, doubts the practicability of attempting to get through any legislation amending the dry laws at this time. Replying to Judge Killitts, he says:

"I am rather doubtful of any additional enforcement legislation can be passed at this session, but I appreciate your writing me and shall keep this in mind."

Rewards for criminals offered by other states can not be collected by William N. Smith, director of the Ohio bureau of identification and investigation, for that department, or any other state department, nor could Mr. Smith make an individual collection, according to a ruling announced by Attorney General C. C. Crabbe. In making this ruling Crabbe said:

"The bureau has been established for the purpose of identification and investigation; therefore, it is a matter of public duty for it to serve in the apprehension or conviction of any criminal. I don't know what fund the money would be turned into if any reward was collected by that department."

The question of collection of rewards offered by other states for criminals apprehended in Ohio arose in the department when Eugene McNanley, sentenced to the Ohio penitentiary from Portsmouth, on a charge of larceny, was identified through his Bertillon and fingerprints as Elmer Sweet, wanted by Michigan state penitentiary officials. In the bulletin sent out by Michigan, a reward of $50 was offered.

In making the ruling the attorney general pointed out that if identification of the criminal is made by the arresting police officer or sheriff before the criminal is sentenced to any penal institution in the state of Ohio, and the criminal is held on a charge not officials of the other state are notified and then take the prisoner, the reward can be claimed by the arresting person, or police officer.

Governor Donahay in congratulating Mayor Frank Hawkins of Steubenville told him that conditions in that city "now are better than they ever have been." Complaints of lax law enforcement in Steubenville and Jefferson county, made to Governor Donahay by citizens of that city, led the governor to direct Attorney General Crabbe to make an investigation with a view to grand jury action.

The attorney general sent former State Senator Sherman S. Deaton of Urbana there and after several weeks of inquiry Mr. Deaton reported that local officials appeared to have the situation well in hand and appeared to be doing all they could to apprehend criminals. His report showed an encouraging improvement of conditions in that city.

The governor will have presented to him early next week by Attorney J. E. Hilton of Canton evidence against Safety Director E. E. Curtis of that city in support of charges of laxity in law enforcement. Until he is presented with this evidence and finds that it comes from responsible witnesses, the governor will not suspend the Canton official and order a hearing under the Miller act. This was determined when a delegation of nine Canton citizens requested the governor to suspend Curtis and cause a hearing to be held.

Investigation of the alleged bribery of an employee of the state securities division in connection with the certification of stock of the Pennoxy Coal company was the subject of a letter written by Attorney General Crabbe to Governor Donahay. Crabbe said:

"You request that I investigate this matter in connection with the prosecuting attorney of Franklin county and prosecute it to a conclusion. I fully agree with you that the facts and circumstances surrounding the certification of the stock of the Pennoxy Coal company cast grave suspicion of bribery. However, bribery is one of the most difficult offenses to prove, as the offense is seldom committed in the presence of witnesses whose testimony can be made available."

"I have carried this investigation as far as practicable without resorting to a grand jury, and have, pursuant to your instructions, transmitted to the prosecuting attorney of this county a statement of the facts developed by such investigation in order that the prosecuting attorney may supplement these facts by a grand jury investigation. You appreciate the fact that I have had no authority to go before a grand jury with this case."

Mr. Crabbe asserted that he would co-operate with County Prosecutor King in the matter "so far as the peculiar limitations of Section 13,560 will permit." This section prohibits the attorney general from going before the grand jury except by direction of the governor.

Governor Donahay said that he was awaiting with interest the action of the Franklin county prosecutor in connection with the securities investigation.

Senator Simeon D. Fess is mentioned in connection with the prospective vacancy in the Ohio membership on the Republican national committee. The new national committeeman will be chosen by the Ohio delegates to the Cleveland convention, who will hold a meeting immediately after the convention for the purpose of electing a committeeman.

R. K. Hynicka of Cincinnati, the present national committeeman, who will retire next June, has stimulated interest in the Ohio congressional delegation by declaring that personally he knew of no man in the state "who would more completely meet the requirements of the position" than Senator Fess. He said: "I have no idea who will succeed me, but the man who does should be in close touch with Washington, its men and its measures, and he should be a Republican of unquestioned loyalty and with a record of continuous and devoted service to the party."

COURT NEWS

Court Decisions

A game cock bird, when it is killed by a Collie dog is worth $7.75, a court jury sitting in the case of Robert Powell against Mickey Flish of East Liverpool, who appealed the case from the justice of the peace court of P. V. Mackall of East Liverpool, and in which court judgment for $15 was rendered in favor of the plaintiff.

Besides $3 per diem for the 12 jurors, there is the court expense and also the cost of counsel, and the time occupied by the court, all of which totaled more than the original judgment.

From the bench, Judge William F. Duncan directed a jury to return a verdict for the defendant in the case of Ram Freeman of Wellsville against the Industrial Commission of Ohio, and immediately after opening statements were made to the jury by Attorney P. M. Smith of Wellsville and East Liverpool and Prosecuting Attorney J. C. Hanley, representing the state. An exception to the verdict was noted by the court on motion of counsel for the plaintiff.

In the case of Wheeling Tile Co. against the Victor Electric Supply Co., the court has granted leave to John Eddie to file a cross petition against attached property.

In the application of City Solicitor George D. Ingram for the appointment of a sinking fund commission for the school district of Wellsville, the petition is now in the hands of the court.

Arguments were made on the motion for a new trial in the case of Mary C. Friedman against the city of Wellsville, before Judge Duncan, Monday, and the motion was overruled. The plaintiff was represented by Attorney Ben L. Bennett and the defense was represented by Solicitor George D. Ingram and Attorneys James E. O'Grady and W. A. O'Grady of Wellsville. The court previously had granted the husband of the deceased $2,000 damages because of the death of the plaintiff and then followed the levying on the city hall of Wellsville, which was appraised at $25,000.

the most distinguished private citizen in America.

Thousands of his friends and devoted followers will line the streets that lead from his modest home to the heights of Mount St. Albans, where in the towering national cathedral his body will be laid away to its well earned rest.

Other thousands will crowd the cathedral grounds to hear the brief simple services.

The commerce of the city will be still and the business of government suspended while his remains are removed from the red brick house where he found the comfort and seclusion that were denied him in higher places. And they will be there not because of any sense of duty, but because they want to be.

To Lie in Mount St. Albans

The heights of Mount St. Albans, where the body will finally lay, command the city of Washington. From the Wilson home in "S" st. the apex of the cathedral looms up on the western sky line bathed by the sun by day and during the night illuminated by the lights that play on it from the surrounding lowlands.

Although himself a Presbyterian, the former president was greatly interested in the cathedral project, which is aimed at providing for Washington what Westminster Abbey is to London.

"Its buildings," he once wrote to the Rev. James E. Freeman, Episcopal bishop of Washington, "will not only add to the stately beauty of our national capital, but will provide a center from which I believe the most useful and beneficial work can be done for the uplift of the community and the stimulation of the nation."

The cathedral site is on Woodley rd., approximately three miles north and west of the White House, and 400 feet above the Potomac. When completed it will have a great central tower that will rise above the dome of the capitol and will be larger than St. Paul's in London or Notre Dame in Paris.

Crowds Still Pass By

It was here that Woodrow Wilson

chose to be laid to his last long rest, overlooking the capitol, where he labored so long and to such great ends, rather than on the heights of Arlington, whose soil has been and probably now shall ever be held sacred inviolate for the man who wore the uniform of war.

A gusty wind and a high, driving rain that fell on Washington during the night had little effect today in stemming the tide of sorrowful callers that passed by the Wilson home to leave mementos of their grief at the former president's passing. Nor did the weather act as a barrier to the scores who, as on Sunday and yesterday, chose to stand in the street opposite the house and mutely pay their respects to a departed leader.

All day long there were reverential tributes to Mr. Wilson before the house in which he died. And as on yesterday messengers came to the crepe door laden with messages from all the world telling of his greatness and the universal esteem in which he was held.

Magnetic Machine Lays Nails Out for Packing

It is reported that a Swiss inventor has produced a machine that by magnetism arranges nails in parallel layers ready for packing. It works on the principle that all linear iron objects in a magnetic field arrange themselves automatically in the direction of the lines of force. The machine can also be used to arrange wire rods, hairpins, knife blades, pens and fishhooks. The packages to be filled by the machine may be the standard type of nail keg, wooden boxes or paper cartons. It is probable that the temporary cardboard package will supersede the old-fashioned nail keg, because it costs less, weighs less and is more convenient. The machine consists of two parts—parallel platform and a feed trough above it, which is fitted with a shaking mechanism. The articles to be packed are poured into the feed trough in lots of about 1,000 pounds, and by the action of the shaking mechanism, are moved to the front of the trough, where they drop into the paralleling platform. That consists of a tray, each side of which forms one pole of an electromagnet. The articles as they fall are drawn into the direction of the magnetic lines of force, which adjust them at once in parallel lines.

Barbados Man Travels 10,000 Miles for Wife

The course of true love, famed for its failure to run smooth, has established a record in the case of W. Percy Emtage, electrical engineer of the Barbados, says the New York World. It carried him 10,000 miles.

Three years ago Emtage first saw Sibyl Peterkin, also of the Barbados, and set out to get an introduction. He succeeded and followed it with a proposal. Miss Peterkin said she would love to be his sister and then packed up and departed for Boston.

Both wrote, Emtage's letters were pleading; Miss Peterkin's friendly and discouraging. Finally she quit writing altogether. Her last letter explained he was a "nice boy, but—"

This was six months ago and Emtage decided Boston might be interesting. He went there. Miss Peterkin had gone to Los Angeles. Emtage went to Los Angeles, but she had left for San Francisco. He followed, but she had returned to Boston.

Cheerfully he started back across the continent, only to find she had quit Boston for Brooklyn. He found her there in the home of her uncle, Edward Tyle.

Then Miss Peterkin gave up. They were married recently in the Municipal building, New York.

Relics of the Bruce

A find of an interesting character has been made on the field where the famous battle of Bannockburn was fought in 1314, and where, it is claimed, Scotland won its independence as a nation. Three sharp-pointed wooden stakes in an excellent state of preservation have been discovered three feet below the surface on a piece of land formerly known as the Milton Bog.

This bog is referred to in the chronicles of the battle, history recording that King Robert the Bruce of Scotland had pits made in the bog and pointed stakes placed in them to stay the progress of the English cavalry, and it is a matter of history or tradition that this device proved to be very successful. These stakes, which were found standing upright in the soil, are regarded as genuine, and are now being treasured as historical relics in the ancient town of Stirling.

First Leviathan Was Failure

The first attempt to provide transatlantic travelers with a vessel that, in size and magnificence, would be a floating hotel, was made in the building of the Great Eastern. The launch of this huge ship, for some time called the Leviathan, was commenced November 2, 1857, but owing to the difficulty of moving the enormous weight, the vessel was not finally afloat until early in 1858.

The secret of managing so large a liner had not yet been learned, and the Great Eastern was from the first a white elephant to her owners. Her only real service was in the laying of Atlantic cables. She made her last voyage 35 years ago, and was then disposed of as junk. The pioneer Leviathan had a length of 692 feet and a tonnage of 27,000.—Detroit News.

Civil War Artillery Man Meets His Target

In wars soldiers aim to get the enemy. But when a war is over a soldier is glad his shot missed the target as he comes face to face with an enemy he missed.

C. Stuart Patterson, the veteran lawyer and bank president, told friends a few days ago of a personal experience of that kind.

Mr. Patterson was a member of that Philadelphia battery which embraced so many men who afterward became distinguished. Including besides himself John G. Johnson and "Hans Breitmann," celebrated humorist, says Glendon in the Philadelphia Inquirer.

In the Gettysburg campaign, Mr. Patterson's battery was sent to Cretzle. The guns were posted in the center of the town where now runs the railroad.

Gen. "Baldy" Smith, in civilian dress, was on the job and stroled out to reconnoiter the position of the Confederate advance.

Returning to the town he walked up to the Philadelphia artillerymen and said: "There is the enemy, half a mile in that direction. You may begin firing."

It was in that engagement Mr. Patterson was wounded.

Years afterward he met Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, who said:

"Had you aimed your shots a few feet to the left of where they first fell you would have killed Gen. 'Jeb' Stuart and myself. We had a close call."

"That is one time," replied Mr. Patterson, "I am glad I completely missed the mark."

Air in Rooms Usually Is Too Dry for Health

Most authorities agree that the factors that distinguish good from bad air are proper temperature, proper humidity and adequate movement. The temperature of rooms for health is about 72 degrees Fahrenheit. Most Americans like the temperature much higher and complain of feeling chilly when it is at this level.

Why? The principal reason is that the air is too dry. Dry air means that excessive evaporation of moisture takes place from the skin, mouth and nose, and this evaporation takes heat away from the body. The worst combinations between temperature and humidity are cold damp air, warm moist air and excessively dry air artificially warmed.

The comfort zone lies between 68 and 72 degrees Fahrenheit, with a humidity between 30 and 55 per cent. The average indoor room in winter has a humidity between 15 and 22 per cent, and to offset the great loss of body heat which this causes the temperature is kept far too high.—Hygeia.

One of Jock's Tricks

Late one night Jock, returning home from work, found a young owl which had fallen from its nest. He picked up the injured bird, carried it home, fed it, and at last placed it in a cozy corner of the kitchen fireplace.

In the early morning Jock's mother came down into the kitchen to get breakfast ready for the family, and was startled by the strange object. But she soon recovered from her alarm, for she was accustomed to the many tricks of young Jock.

"That's our Jock at his pranks from work," she smiled. "He's gone and put a hawk on the kitchen."

Wanted the Rest of It

The householder, answering a knock at the door, discovered a poor Jew who the previous day had begged a waiccoat from him.

"Does the kind gentlemen remember," said the Jew, "that he gave me a waiccoat yesterday? Well, I found a five-pound note in der pocket."

"Upon my word," said the householder, "you are an honest man. Come inside, sir."

While the Jew was enjoying the glass of wine and cigar immediately found for him, the householder said: "Of course, you have brought the waiccoat back?"

"No," replied the Jew. "I haf come to beg for der coat and trousers."

Old Helicopter Model

A model of a helicopter from plans drawn 80 years ago by Sir George Cayley was constructed recently by Paul Geyher, custodian of airplane models in the National museum at Washington. The design, although conceived years before an airplane flew, is strikingly similar to those of recent helicopters, and aeronautical engineers assert that with a few modifications based on modern aircraft principles a large machine constructed on the original plans undoubtedly would fly.—Popular Science Monthly.

Needing Heat!

A business man entertained a house party the other week. As he came from his dressing room one night during the party he overheard his butler saying in a fierce whisper down the dumbwaiter:

"For de land's sake, cook hurry up de soup. De ladies is all stripped for dinner."—Boston Globe.

Out of the Question.

The three children came and stood in a row in front of their mother "Mamma," they asked, "what would you like for your birthday?"

"My dears, mamma wants not for her birthday but three good children. She would like that."

"But then, mamma," cried the eldest, "we'd be six."

NOTED EDUCATOR AND WRITER WINS BOK PEACE AWARD

Philadelphia, Feb. 5.—Charles Herbert Levermore of New York, student of international relations, writer and former college professor today was announced as the winner of the $100,000 prize offered by Edward W. Bok, Philadelphia publisher, for the best plan to preserve peace among the nations of the world.

Dr. Levermore was announced the winner by John W. Davis of the policy committee of the American Peace Award, at a meeting at the Academy of Music.

Mr. Davis also presented him with $50,000, half of Mr. Bok's prize, and the remainder will be given only if the plan is accepted by the congress of the United States. Dr. Levermore's plan was No. 1469 in a total of 22,165 received.

He Fought Hard To Save
Woodrow Wilson.

Admiral Cary T. Grayson.

Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson of the medical corps of the navy, for years was President Wilson's chief medical adviser and struggled desperately to save the life of his devoted friend. Though his tour of duty at Washington has ended, the late President Harding ordered that Admiral Grayson was to remain in Washington as long as Mr. Wilson lived, and this order was continued instantly by President Coolidge.

PARTY LINES ARE MOSTLY WIPED OUT

FACTIONS SUPPLANT POLITICAL ORGANIZATIONS, TO THE DISTRESS OF LEADERS.

By EDWARD B. CLARK

Washington.—The situation in congress this winter resembles that in many of the legislative bodies of Europe. In the place of two well-outlined political parties striving for the mastery, there are really six or seven schools of thought represented in both houses, and each is striving for the domination of its own economic and legislative ideas.

Party names this year seem to matter nothing. The old lines of demarcation between the Republicans and the Democrats for the present at least seem largely to have been wiped out. States rights and to a less degree protection vs. free trade are in limbo. There are scores of Republicans who seem to feel legislatively just as a score or two of Democrats feel. Then there are some Republicans so-called, and some Democrats, so-called, whose feelings are alike and entirely different from those of other groups in all matters pertaining not only to ultimate legislation but to the means of securing it.

Efforts at leadership in both houses and in both parties is like the attempts at shepherding of the guardians of a flock of sheep of which the constituent members seem to be headstrong in their attempts to get through the fence on one side, to jump into the river on a second, or possibly to tumble down a precipice on a third, while ignoring the side leading to the pasture of peace, concord and presumed plenty.

Disturbing to the Leaders.

Not long ago Secretary of Commerce Hoover wrote a letter to William Allen White touching on the danger of this tendency to coalition in congress between the parties and parts of parties. In his letter the secretary dwelt upon the similarity of conditions abroad and those in the congress of the United States at the present time.

Mr. Hoover is not the only prominent one in official life who has called attention to the same thing. It is known that the Democratic party leaders outside of congress are immensely disturbed over the condition, fearing that it means damage to the party, and it also is known that Republican national committeemen and others also are anxious over the possible outcome of the divisions in their party ranks in house and senate.

Both Democratic and Republican politicians who are not in congress are asking themselves how really solid party endeavor can be stressed in convention platforms when the endeavors have been not of parties, but of factions within parties.

Each party organization is anxious to go before the people next summer with something constructive to present and with a record of construction, attempted at least, to prove that it is the intention in the future to complete the plan and thereby to deserve the thanks of the voters. The Democrats have one legislative plan to lower taxes, the Republicans have another and certain factions in both parties have others. What is going to come out of it nobody knows.

Hoover Sees the Danger.

Here is what Secretary Hoover has said specifically about this condition of things which is manifest in the congress of the United States today:

"Any coalition between the groups of opposing political thought and object is bound to result in the abandonment of matters of important principle and the consequent adoption of largely negative policies.

"Practical democracy requires two-party government; otherwise there is unlikely to be any stable majority, and this implies a willingness and spirit of compromise in individuals of perhaps some diverse point of view to work together within a single party where they can agree on a considerable portion of objectives."

As has been said, Mr. Hoover does not stand alone in his opinions on the dangers of negative rather than positive results accruing from the action of congress as it is constituted today. It looks to many Democrats and Republicans, and they are willing to give words to their visualization of the situation, as if most of the larger pieces of legislation which are to be enacted into law this winter will be largely of compromise character.

The meeting of the Democratic national committee in Washington will be an interesting one, because it is understood that there will be conferences between the Democratic leaders in congress and those from various sections of the country on the subject of what ought to be done to insure a united party in congress on all the major measures. The Democrats cannot put through any legislation of their own unless they can secure aid from a bloc of Republicans who on tax matters seemingly think more like the Democrats than they do like the majority of senators and representatives in their own party.

Picture Shows Hollywood As It Is

James Cruze's "Hollywood" Made By Screen Experts Who Know Place.

Showing Hollywood, Cal., the capital of blarney, as it really is, not as it is sometimes painted, is one of the features of the James Cruze Paramount picture, "Hollywood," which has been booked by Manager Wberg for the Royal theater for tonight. Frank Condon, who wrote the short story from which the picture was adapted, lives in and knows Hollywood intimately. James Cruze, the director, lives in and is familiar with every phase of the community and studio life. The only strangers are some of the unknown players, who interpret the roles of the folks from Centerville, Ind., and who are quite like the characters they depict. 30h

PEOPLE OVER FORTY

People aged forty or over are less able to resist the attacks of colds, grippe, influenza or pneumonia, than young people. Their vital force lacks the powerful resistance of youth. Constipated bowels, sour stomach, indigestion, biliousness and weak kidneys all tend to lower the physical resistance. Millions of people now use Bulgarian Herb Tea to keep the bowels open and improve the blood. Bulgarian Herb Tea taken steaming hot will help break up a cold quickly. Physicians and druggists, everywhere recommend it.

Parachutes for Mountain Climbers.

Mountain climbing will lose most of its perils, if not all its thrills, when the suggestion of F. E. Lundy in Science and Invention is carried out. Both the dangers of climbing and the difficulties of descending will be removed. "If the Alpinist will carry a 15-pound pack on his back containing one of the regulation United States army parachutes. This parachute opens by merely pulling a cord, conveniently placed with a large ring on one end. The new parachute is fully opened after a drop of 60 feet and a man has actually jumped from the low altitude of 75 feet from a flying boat traveling at 100 miles an hour. The breaking of a lifeline or a fall from a precipice need have no terrors now if one has a parachute. In case of a sudden storm or a perilous descent it will be safer and quicker to get down by means of the parachute."

BOK PLAN WON'T BUDGE THE SENATE

IRRECONCILABLES DECLARE IT KILLS ALL CHANCE FOR WORLD COURT PROPOSAL.

By EDWARD B. CLARK

Washington.—In the senate the so-called irreconcilables on international matters still are declaring openly that the Edward Bok peace plan has killed all chance that the Harding World court membership proposal can be enacted into law.

The irreconcilables go farther than this and say that the plan not only killed the World court plan, but has put the League of Nations, so far as American participation therein is concerned, on a mountain ledge that cannot be reached by the most enthusiastic scaler of peaks.

Are these things that the irreconcilables say true? Naturally enough they seemingly form their opinions on the subject of the future of the plan from the reception which it has received in partisan circles in Washington. Washington is not the United States, although congressmen seem to take it for granted that the voice of the cloakroom is the voice of the country.

A referendum is being taken on the Bok peace plan. Opponents of the League of Nations and anything pertaining thereto say that the referendum will result in dis-panning the plan. However, they probably will know better after a little thought. The seemingly sane thinkers here believe that the result of the referendum will be approval of the plan and yet they know that this will not and cannot make it certain that the country en masse gives its approval to the presented scheme to bring about peace.

Opponents Lose Interest.

The friends of a movement intended to make peace take up permanent lodging in the world are not deceiving themselves as to the effect of the pronouncement on the present plan which is likely to come as the result of a referendum. They know, as well as opponents of the plan know, that the people who are enthusiastic for anything are the people who respond to the call for voting. The opponents of anything touching the League of Nations, or at least those of them who are outside of the circles of political partisanship, have, to a considerable extent, lost interest in the matter. It is not expected that they will respond in great numbers to the referendum appeal. The result, therefore, naturally, as even friends of the plan view it, will be an endorsement for the proposed Bok endeavor.

This view of the case, the view of friends of the plan, is given in order that the ordinary layman espouser of the proposal shall not take the result of the referendum too seriously. The proponents of the plan know well enough that the senate as at present constituted never will give endorsement to the plan after it has been put in resolution, bill or treaty form for submission to congress. The supporters of the plan here in Washington and who give voice on the subject, therefore, seemingly want it to be known that they have no great hope that congress will give its endorsement, no matter what the referendum may seem to show.

Real Referendum at the Polls.

So far as the Washington viewpoint is concerned, it seems that the referendum on a World court and on a gradual approach to a direct way into the League of Nations, is to be held next summer and fall—that is in the election. The feeling of the friends of a modified Woodrow Wilson plan seems to be that a change has come in the country since the election of 1920 and that today there are hundreds of thousands of voters who, in a sort of despair because Europe cannot get straightened out any other way, now are willing that something shall be tried to bring order out of disorder, even if once they objected to the trial of anything that looked as if it might lead into the field of European troubles.

It is not determined yet definitely whether the senators actually will endorse a resolution of inquiry to determine whether or not the Bok peace plan competition was instituted for the purpose of coercing the senate of the United States. Of course everybody here knows that such an inquiry would prove nothing, and that the very suggestion of it is simply a mark of resentment that anybody should have the temerity to attempt to try to find out whether the American people are in favor of something which some of their representatives in the senate look on with hatred. It would be something of a blow to the self love of a good many senators if they should be made to know that the humble ones who sent them to the senate do not hold them to be infallible because of their high place.

Some days have passed since the Bok peace plan was made public. The senate, in part, has done nothing but attempt to pour contempt on Mr. Bok's pride of achievement. The wish, of course, is fatter to the thought that the plan will not amount to anything. It is held here as certain that it will take a referendum result of Niagara-like power to move the irreconcilables from their place of antagonism.

SUE SEBRING FOR $51,000 DAMAGES

The village of Sebring is made defendant in a $51,000 damage suit filed by Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Phillips, R. F. D. 4, Alliance.

The plaintiffs allege that the water in Fish Creek, a stream that runs through their farm, has been made impure because of the building of a sewer by the village. They charge that the water is unfit to drink, causes a disagreeable odor and can be used for no purpose whatever.

As cattle will not graze near there and as their milk has been judged impure by state inspectors, the Phillips say that irreparable damage has been done them. They also claim that the odor arising from the creek has made further living there almost impossible.

COOLIDGE PLEDGES
GOVERNMENT HELP TO WHEAT FARMER

Washington, Feb. 5.—President Coolidge today called upon the people of the great agricultural north-west to come in the rescue of their farming and federal interests, and promised the aid and cooperation of the federal government to save the nation.

Addressing a conference of leading representatives of these states' national interests in the northwestern states, the president declared that "reconstruction, not charity" was the policy of the government in providing financial rehabilitation for the wheat country and outlined program of remedial measures designed to enable the farmer to "work out his future with the help of funds advanced by the government."

Steps to be taken by the government were announced by the president as:

1. Enactment of the Norbeck-Burton bill providing an "acceleration" for the purpose of promoting the diversification of agriculture in certain sections of the country which heretofore have been devoted primarily to the production of wheat, and...

2. Authorizing the war finance corporation to make advances for agricultural purposes until the end of the present calendar year.

The president said that the fund created by the Norbeck-Burton bill now pending in congress, could be used to make loans to wheat farmers to enable them to purchase livestock and poultry, thus equipping their farms for dairying and general farming.

"It should not be loaned to men...

From the standpoint of the savings it provides the 1924 ANNUAL LINEN SALE will stand out pre-eminently in the merchandising history of the city of Salem.

Few of the world's industries were affected more disastrously by the war and its aftermath, than flax growing and linen making. Linen costs became in a measure prohibitive to many.

Readjustments during the last year have made wonderful changes in wartime conditions.

Table Damask that was $5.00 three years ago will sell in this sale at $2.88 yard.

All-linen Toweling that was 22c will sell at 12 1/2c.

And these are just fair examples of the wonderful values of this sale.

It includes Table Damask, Pattern Cloths, Napkins, Lunch Cloths, Fancy Linens, Crashes, Towels, Wash Cloths, Bedspreads and a special showing of Sheets and Pillow Cases.

No housewife can afford not to come to this sale.

SENATE WORRIED BY BOK CONTEST

THINKS IT MUST INVESTIGATE
WHAT MIGHT BE "LEAGUE OF NATIONS PROPAGANDA."

BY EDWARD B. CLARK

Washington.—Now it seems that under the senate's special resolution providing for an investigation of propaganda to control or affect the foreign or domestic policies of the United States there probably will be conducted an investigation into the genesis of Edward Bok's peace plan, and whether or not it is intended as League of Nations propaganda.

Some of the senators seem to think that an undue attempt is to be made to influence the upper house in behalf of the League of Nations through a referendum on the Bok peace plan and through other movements german thereto.

How about it? One does not have to be either a friend or an enemy of the League of Nations to be able to smile a bit over the expressed fear of some of the senators that attempts are being made to influence them in behalf of any plan. The truth is that attempts are being made every day in a dozen different ways to influence house and senate, and neither house nor senate becomes restive or fearful unless one or the other is in considerable part bitterly opposed to the matter in behalf of which the influence is being used.

So far as one can determine, propaganda in behalf of the League of Nations so far as its effect on either house or senate is concerned will depend for its force entirely upon whether or not a movement in behalf of the league or against it shall prove to have behind it the majority force of the American people.

Yield to Views of Majority.
Time and again senate and house have been influenced by propaganda which seemed to have back of it the will of the majority of the people. Senators and members of the house are supposed to be representatives of the people and therefore in times past when it seemed to be true that a majority of Americans were back of this thing or that thing, senate and house naturally yielded to the influence exerted, for in the highest sense, although the expression of it may be something of a bromide, the people are supposed to be masters of their servants.

There is unquestionably today a concerted attempt of various organizations in the United States to secure American entry into the League of Nations. There are also exceedingly active influences at work to prevent the entry of the United States into the League of Nations.

No old-timer here has the slightest thought that the majority in the senate will be moved away from its opposition to the League of Nations by any force short of overwhelming evidence, which, frankly speaking, it does not seem will come for a long while. If it ever comes, that the majority of the people desire entrance into the league. In this matter of the Bok peace plan it is said here that some of the senators are seeing ghosts and are unnecessarily scared by them.

Some Former Instances.
Within the years of the active work in Washington of the writer, congress has been influenced on several occasions by the same kind of movement which it is now said is to be made the subject of inquiry as to its source. Twenty years ago, or perhaps a little longer, congress, entirely against its personal will, legislated the canteen out of the army posts. The propaganda in behalf of the removal of the canteen, which was the enlisted man's club in which were sold light wines and beer, was a whirlwind affair, and it was conducted almost entirely by women. Neither senate nor house thought it necessary to order an investigation to see if the women were trying to influence them. The evidence of the influence and of its effect was shown in the result. The canteens were closed.

The house once through the manipulation of certain committee members was going to eliminate the biological survey from the Department of Agriculture. News of this leaked out in advance and suddenly a propaganda in behalf of the survey was started, not by the survey but by the millions of people who benefited from its work. The farmers' institutes, the stock raisers and a score of other industrial and business elements of the community literally flooded congress with protests. The biological survey still lives, and yet there was no investigation by aggrieved house members to find out whether the farmers of the country were trying to influence them unduly.

There have been a dozen things of like kind. It is only when a matter which is of deep political interest and provocative of bitterness comes within the congressional field of notice that investigations as to the reasons or motives are asked.

Sounded Like Camping

A kindly but somewhat patronizing landlady inquired of the young bride how she and her husband planned to spend their holiday.
"Our plans thus far," replied the bride, a little distantly, "are only tentative."
"How delightful!" exclaimed the landlady. "I'm sure you will enjoy camping out more than anything else you could do."

THIS WOMAN'S MARVELLOUS RECOVERY

All Due to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Truman, Minn.—"I was badly run-down, had pains in my side and back; sometimes I could hardly move around in bed. My husband got me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and after taking it I was so much better I could do all my housework, have a garden, raise chickens, and in harvest time I worked in the field and helped pick corn. Sometimes I do chores and milk. I took the Vegetable Compound before and after my four-months-old baby was born, and it has always helped me wonderfully. I believe there is no better medicine made for women, and I hope every woman will give it a fair trial."—Mrs. AUGUST R. WIEDERHOF, R. No. 2, Box 84, Truman, Minn.

SEPARATE GAME BOARD ITS AIM

League of Ohio Sportsmen to Seek Legislation.

TO URGE CIVIL SERVICE PLAN

County Commissioners of Ohio to Discuss Various Problems of Highway Construction—First Road Letting For 1924 Announced by Highway Director Boulay—Legion Posts in Ohio to Receive Cash.

Columbus, Feb. 5.—At the annual meeting of the League of Ohio Sportsmen here resolutions that are expected to form a vital part in legislation relative to activities of Buckeye sportsmen were adopted unanimously. They will be presented to the next meeting of the general assembly. One of the most important of these resolutions was for the establishment of a separate and nonpartisan fish and game commission through an act of the legislature, giving it the power to enforce its recommendations. Another resolution asked that the chief of this proposed commission, together with all its employees, be appointed through civil service examination.

Other resolutions adopted favor the fishermen's license of 50 cents per year, legislation for cleaning up polluted streams in the state, the use of abandoned canal beds in Ohio for fish hatcheries and public fishing places, and passage of the public shooting ground game refuge bill now pending before congress.

One resolution asks that farmers be exempt from taxes on any territory owned by them upon which healthy trees are growing. H. M. Katz of the Central Ohio Hunters' and Anglers' club introduced a resolution providing that no member of the league shall hunt on a farmer's land unless the farmer's permission has been granted.

I. S. Myers of Akron, retiring president of the league, was made a life-long honorary president of the league as a symbol of regard. Dr. K. Y. James, newly elected president, pledged himself to follow out Myers' program of benefit to sportsmen.

A proposed reforestation program of the league was outlined by Ben C. Robinson of Mt. Vernon.

Welfare Director Harper announced that Dr. E. J. Emerick, superintendent of the state institution for feeble-minded, will become chief medical executive of the state bureau of juvenile research Feb. 1. Dr. Emerick succeeds Dr. Edmund H. Baehr, resigned.

In taking over the bureau, Dr. Emerick leaves a position he has held since 1907, having been appointed superintendent of the feeble-minded institution by Governor Harris. The new chief is a member of the Columbus Academy of Medicine, Ohio State and American Medical societies, the American Medico-Psychological association and the National Association for the Study of the Feeble-Minded.

Dr. Emerick's new post pays $5,000, while the job he leaves pays $3,600 with maintenance. His successor as superintendent of the feeble-minded institution will be named soon and will assume his duties Feb. 1.

According to the federal census bureau the value of principal farms of wealth increased 107 per cent in Ohio in 10 years, while per capita wealth value increased 65.7 per cent. Between 1912 and Dec. 31, 1922, wealth increased from $9,011,026,000 to $18,473,316,000, while the per capita value jumped from $1,835 to $3,045.

Estimated value of taxed real property and improvements increased 162.8 per cent from $4,817,406,000 to $9,239,962,000; exempt real property 162.8 per cent from $356,302,000 to $926,335,000; farm implements and machinery 59.1 per cent from $54,161,000 to $86,177,000; manufacturing machinery, tools and implements 214.5 per cent from $423,068,000 to $1,339,729,000, and railroads and their equipment 22.8 per cent.

A movement originating in this state to induce the postoffice department to revoke its ruling permitting the mailing of advertising matter to boxholders on rural routes, addressing them by the box numbers, has failed. The Advertisers' club of Cincinnati took the lead in bringing the matter to the attention of Postmaster General New. The postmaster general, in declining to act favorably on the suggestion that the regulation be revoked, says:

"It is noted that in the opinion of advertising experts the ruling will result in a nuisance to farmers and is dangerous in that it opens this class of mail to all sorts of fraudulent operators for the sale of oil stock and other questionable financial projects. We are not advised that there has been any abuse of the opportunity to advertisers thus afforded or that the mails have been overburdened as a result of the change in practice. In this view there does not seem to be any warrant at this time for revoking the authority."

Legion posts in Ohio that participated in a membership contest last year are about to reap the fruits of their endeavors in the distribution of the 83rd division fund, which was raised by Ohioans during the war for the benefit of Buckeye draftees. At the close of hostilities $90,000 of this fund remained and Colonel William Cooper Prater of Cincinnati, the trustee, invested the money wisely with the result that the fund has grown to $126,000.

Distribution of the fund to the 556 American Legion posts of Ohio was begun by Colonel Prater, who pro-rated the money among the posts according to their membership. Figures were furnished by state headquarters of the American Legion in Columbus. There were 39,800 members of the legion in Ohio at the close of the period designated as a basis for the award, which would amount to about $350 per member. The money will be used by the posts in erecting buildings or providing club rooms with furniture and other equipment.

Arthur McWilliams, chief of the state division of dairy and foods, advocates a statute fashioned after the law now in operation in Indiana, requiring an examination for competency and a license for those engaged in testing milk and cream. He advanced this theory as a remedy for the irregularities of testing in cream buying stations throughout Ohio, which, he said, was the chief concern of his department at the present time. "Although we have maintained a good record in the work of the division during the past year in food law violations," he said, "the cream buying stations are delinquent."

Investigation has revealed, McWilliams continued, that almost all irregularities in cream marketing occur at subsidiary buying stations, where careless or mercenary manipulation or inadequate equipment hurts both producer and manufacturer. The only solution, he declared, is a wholesome, uniform and continued co-operation of cream buying and tarring dishonest testers.

In pointing out the progress made by his division in the past year, Mr. McWilliams declared that 19,000 in specimens had been made. In 29 instances prosecutions were necessary to eliminate continuance of offenses.

Team One Goes Into Lead In Bowling Tournament

Wernet Rolls 247, Taking Second In Individual Standing; Low Scores Mark Fourth Week Of Masonic Games.

Team One went into the lead in the Masonic bowling tournament, last week, replacing Team Four. Team One, by taking three from the former leader, upset the dope, and threw four back into a tie with Three and Five for second place.

Wernet, captain of Team Three, had high individual honors for the week, rolling 247 for second place in the tournament standing. He was also the only man to go over 200 in the week's play.

It was another week of low team scores. None of the six teams approached their former high scores and the pin standing thus remains the same.

In addition to Team One's spectacular win over Team Four, Team Three took two out of three games from Team Two; and Team Five took two from Team Six, keepers of the lower regions.

Team One should retain its lead this week for it meets Team Six; Two plays Five, and Three rolls Four.

Things to Know About Our Service

What is a Public Utility?

The companies that provide electric, gas, telegraph, telephone, street car and water supply service, etc., are public utilities—public servants regulated by law.

A public utility must serve everybody alike. It can refuse no one. It must deal with all on equal terms—and usually these are fixed by the state commission or subject to its approval.

The service is so vital to life and progress that it must be continuous and uninterrupted regardless of profit or loss to the operating company.

Public utilities are owned by the people through a vast army of stockholders and controlled by the people through the state regulating bodies.

Verily this is a business "of the people, by the people, for the people."

SILVER PRODUCTS IN GREAT VARIETY

to work, and there are very few farms that do not have some sort of Silver manufactures on them.

Today the farmer tries to put up his forage for his stock in the cheapest way he can. He knows that if his farm is large enough he should use a modern silo filler, feed cutter, or fodder shredder. To supply that need or repeating demand Silvers, as the plant is known to most of us, turns out hundreds of such things each year.

Woodworking Machinery
Next we come to things that contractors, furniture builders, pattern makers, etc., need. We find that Silvers makes high grade wood working machinery of all kinds. There are band saws, buzz saws and planers, saw tables, and swing saws that are universally used. Any factory that has a woodworking or crating department has use for some product of the Silver plant, and by the amount of orders that are coming in, factories made in Salem woodworking machinery.

Drilling machines are among the leaders in the company's business. They are in hand and power styles. They are made in a variety of styles for a large number of uses, in garages, repair shops, machine shops, for coal miners, for farmers, and in fact for any need that arises in drilling holes in steel, iron, slate and other materials.

If you have ever watched a ditch being scooped out, you know what a ditching machine looks like. Silvers make all the parts except the power unit, which is a Fordson tractor. Oil and gas companies, water and irrigating companies and state and counties use the machines for aiding in the laying of pipe lines, and for similar work requiring any kind of ditch digging.

Next time you go in a butcher shop look at the sausage machine if they will allow you. See if the Silver Co. did not make the machine because hundreds sell over this country. In making link sausage that tickles the palates of millions each morning at breakfast.

In addition butchers buy Silvers hard making machines. These press out the cracklings into fine lard. Silvers machines hasten the curing of hams. Fruit presses and berry machines are used by everyone. Cider mills are in special demand now and a larger business is anticipated.

The company has agents in all parts of the world. Each principal city in the United States, and all foreign countries have a representative of Silvers.

Agents in Other Lands
Recently the company put on additional traveling salesmen, one of whom has just sailed for Japan where there is a big demand for iron and woodworking machines for reconstruction work. Another is to sail shortly for a 15 months' trip to Australia, South Africa and the Orient which sections of the world are beginning to show increased industrial activity.

The volume of business in 1923 was approximately 40 per cent more than in 1922, company officials state, and 80 percent over 1921. More business is now being put on the order books each day and the 1924 outlook is very promising.

The officers of the company are: E. W. Silver, president; R. B. Anderson, vice president; A. R. Silver, secretary; A. O. Silver, treasurer. The directors are the above persons, and H. M. Silver, Salem; H. C. Rice, New York city, and C. P. Jones, Cleveland.

OHIO PLANNING ERECTION OF 50 NEW CHURCHES

Columbus, Feb. 5.—Fifty churches will be erected in Ohio during the coming summer, as part of an extensive building program planned and a much greater number will be remodeled to meet demands made of the modern church. It was estimated today by church extension officials. Available figures also show that within the next five years approximately 150,000 church buildings in the United States will be remodeled, so that they may minister more serviceably to community needs.

It was pointed out that within recent years the functions of the church have changed greatly, and that church architecture has undergone a transformation accordingly. Whereas, churches were formerly opened two days a week, they are now in most cases open every day and evening, to meet most modern conditions.

A Surfeited Traveler.
During the 34 years that Joseph C. Beck was a clerk in the railway mail service between Chicago and Cleveland, he traveled 2,907,000 miles, a distance equivalent to 120 times around the earth. He participated in several wrecks, but always escaped injury, and now deems it time to seek retirement.

BUTLER WATCHED WITH INTEREST

GENERAL OF MARINES IS DOING
GREAT WORK IN CLEANING UP CORRUPT PHILADELPHIA.

By EDWARD B. CLARK

Washington.—Service men in Washington are watching with keen-eyed interest the outcome of the efforts of Brig. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, one of Uncle Sam's marines, to change the condition of things in "corrupt and contented" Philadelphia.

There are some service friends of the general here who think that perhaps he is talking a bit too much, but at the present writing his work is outstripping his talk and therefore the criticism may pass. General Butler certainly has done things in the past and no one seems to believe that his career of doing is ended.

Service men before this have tried their hand at police work in American cities. There was, notably, the case of General Bingham, who was commissioner of police in New York under McCellan's administration. General Bingham was not spectacular, but he managed to do some good work and the proof that it was good was found in the opposition which he met with from the politicians.

Butler, the marine, always has been spectacular, but not in a studied way. As a fighter he was a whirlwind spectacle and if any one doubts the nature of his fighting he can read the record of it from the ribbons on the blouse of his marine uniform. He not only has the Distinguished Service Medal, but the Medal of Honor for that kind of personal gallantry which is above the call of duty.

Some folk wonder why the Quaker body has not dropped Butler from its membership. He writes his religion down as that of a Quaker and when he goes to church he attends the "Friends Meeting." He is not, however, a turn-the-other-cheek kind of a religionist. By the way, Smedley D. Butler, fighter, not only is a Quaker but his middle name is Darling. Incongruity is said to be humor's chief ingredient.

Hartigan's Job in Chicago.

Years ago in Chicago the major appointed a West Pointer, Thomas L. Hartigan, to the position of drill instructor of the police force. Everybody in the city knew "Tom," who now is a flourishing lawyer in the Philippine Islands where he went years ago as a major of the Thirtieth infantry. Major Hartigan had nothing to do under his appointment with the cleaning up of vice conditions in the Lake City. His duties were those of a drill master only and he had some time of it.

In the old Second armory on the lake front he assembled in drill squad form the policemen of Chicago of all ages in their turns. Many of them were "bepanched." The drill master was trim, for in that day he had his cadet figure.

The sight of the 300-pounder and worse coppers doing "second exercise" in a vain attempt to put the palms of their hands on the floor without bending their knees was too much for the risibilities of the citizens of Chicago. The result was that "Major Tom" modified his drilling endeavors somewhat, but history records that despite earnest and conscientious effort he never succeeded in giving the members of the police force of Chicago the wasp-like waists and flat backs which mark the physical makeup of the cadets of Uncle Sam's great school.

In those old Chicago days, Peter Finley Dunne, otherwise "Mr. Dooley," had given the name "Casey" to the entire police force of Chicago. Mr. Dooley, although recollection has it he was not Mr. Dooley then, had a pen hand in the work of inducing the Chicago authorities to come to the conclusion that "continue the motion, second exercises" were not a necessity for the physical or mental well being of Casey who a thousand strong had been pounding beat or warning the station house chairs for, to, these many years.

Army Discipline in Panama.
The finest bit of army discipline that ever was exercised over civilians was that instituted on the Isthmus of Panama when the army took hold of the digging operations after civilians had reneged on the job.

There were thousands upon thousands of civilians on the isthmus and they did not want any army discipline. They were led into it by what the father who looked his son on a slowly ascending scale of severity called "easy gradations." The civilians were led rather than ordered into keeping regular hours, into bathing frequently, and into the doing of various other things with which they had not been at all familiar. Soon they found out that what they were doing made for health and comfort, and they went along obeying the strict letter of the suggestion and not one of the thousands ever knew that in fact he had been under what some people call the hard hand of army discipline.

Health Brings Beauty

When You're Run-down, Weak or Nervous, You Do Not Look Well

Cambridge, Ohio.—"I was in a run-down state of health with scarcely ambition enough to do my housework, when I first learned of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, about a year ago. I had doctored but obtained no benefit, but one bottle of the Favorite Prescription put me on my feet and strengthened me in every way. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription proved to be an excellent tonic and nerve and I highly recommend it as such to all women who have become weak and run-down."—Mrs. Virginia Leslie, 415 Long St.
